One of the greatest mitzvot is to enable others to perform mitzvot, those sacred acts which propel us to godly living and the world towards godly ends. Those who make God's home a "house for all people," birth blessings beyond count and are themselves seven-fold blessed.

Temple B'nai Or

From the Rabbi....

We are living in a time when social media and advertising are constantly revealing to us all the things we don't have. If we just had a little more money, or if we just bought this one product, we could feel satisfied. It seems that contentment and satisfaction with our lives is always just one step away from where we are at any given point in time.

Judaism has the exact opposite outlook on life. Our tradition teaches that we are to begin each day with the prayer that begins, "Modeh ani." The prayer states, "I acknowledge and thank You God for having given me the gift of life once more as I awake to the new day." When we begin our day with a statement of gratitude and thanks, it frames the day differently. Starting the day with an expression of gratitude makes living life easier and simpler, even in the face of obstacles, problems, and difficulties.

Gratitude is affirming. It opens us up to seeing how much good there is in our lives. Taking time to recognize the good in our lives forces us to stay in the reality of the present moment, and we benefit from the actual experience of life instead of living in the "reality of expectations."

I hope each of us can take a few minutes each day to slow down, take a few breaths, and take a few minutes to express gratitude, saying thank you for all that is good in each of our lives.

Right now, as I take this minute to slow down, I want to say thank you to God who has brought me to Temple B'nai Or. I recognize how lucky I am to be a part of this sacred community. I want to thank the Executive Committee, Board of Trustees, and Pulpit committee for their ongoing support and for their dedication to our congregation. Thank you to the senior staff and support staff who work tirelessly behind the scenes. And thank you to all of the members of our Kehilah, our temple family, for all that you do to make Temple B'nai Or warm, welcoming, and a beacon of light in our community.

From the Cantor...

Days of Gratitude ימי הודאה Yemei Hoda'a

Our Jewish Calendar stipulates special times set aside for gratitude. Actually, Hanukkah and Purim are two such times; we thank God for the miracles that have saved the Jewish people from cruel rulers. On both occasions, we retell stories of our people fighting a war, and with God's help, we win and we are saved from terrible fates. These stories, are not included in our bible as they take place in post biblical times, but are discussed at length in Rabbinical Judaism.

Judaism sets aside special times in the daily prayer to express gratitude with the "Modim" prayer, and in the yearly cycle with these days of gratitude. There are ample opportunities to show gratitude for the blessings in our lives.

In these days of gratitude, as we approach Purim, I am deeply grateful for the rich musical tradition that Temple B'nai Or has taught me, the rich legacy of music of generations that was gifted and entrusted to me, with the openness to bring my own musical gifts to this community for the last five years.

Happily, I have never been alone in this creative process. In addition to our genius music director Mark Hyczko, counseling and guiding with immense professionalism, breadth and depth, I have had the great fortune to lead this community with the Temple B'nai Or Congregational choir, Kolot Or. Like their name, the voices of light, such has been their path of leadership. Dedicated and enthusiastic, they lead our congregation in song. I dedicate these days of gratitude to each member of Kolot Or: Arnie, Rich, Jordan, Stew, Laurie, Nancy, Donna, Mary Ellen, Ellen, Gay, Claudia, Amy, and my own personal angel and helper Don Piermont. May your voices continue to soar.

If you feel like you want to be a part of this wonderful group of people, please join us, or contact me.

Cantor Galit Dadoun Cohen

From the President...

You have heard from me in many formats and venues over the last 1.5+ years. With this Or-acle issue dedicated to thanks, I have only one thing to say: "Thank you, Lisa." Without my wife's support, I could not have been your president, or been able to put in the effort necessary to help do what we've done. Our Kehilah literally means a sacred community. There is nothing more sacred than a personal relationship built on mutual commitment. We have that. And our Kehilah does, too.

Lisa and I met at Monday night Hebrew school here at TBO, coming from different towns. We sat together at services away from our parents, attended each other's confirmations, and shared a love for our rabbi, the temple and our Jewish friends. We have continued that affection and commitment for each other, our children and B'nai Or for multiple decades.

Thank you Lisa, for supporting me in this role as temple president. We have spent a lot of time apart. I am so very proud of all that our Kehilah has accomplished, and I am humbled by the responsibility to lead in this role. You have been my sounding board, confidant and (dare I say) critic. I promise to return to cooking dinners beginning in July. I love you.

Keith Barbarosh, President

Why I Volunteer...

Tanya Simon, a long-time volunteer, joined Temple with her husband Vince, and their three young sons 17 years ago. Now, with the boys grown and off to, or out of, college, she is still working to help our community and other communities as the co-chair of the Social Action Committee, and a Trustee on the Temple Board. We are grateful to share Tanya's gifts with you, and we thought we'd ask her:

Q. Why do you volunteer at Temple?

A. I have always had a strong sense of responsibility to help others and the community, especially to stand up and advocate for people and animals who are persecuted or otherwise disenfranchised. This, and the example set by my mother (of blessed memory), are what draws me to Social Action. Volunteering at Temple helps me connect to others here, and to my religion.

Q. What advice would you give others that are interested in getting more involved?

A. I first got involved by reading about the committees, and upcoming events and then tried a few of them out. I truly believe that the sooner you get involved you are much more likely to feel connected to TBO. For me, this took several years. Stuart Rayvid (Past President) asked me to be on the planning committee for a Peter Yarrow concert. It was exciting, and enjoyed by many congregants. It gave me joy and pride to have been part of it.

Check out the TBO Calendar for Bagels and Torah dates.
We hope to see you there!

From the Religious School...

Moses was observed by the Israelites in the dessert working from morning to night feverishly, passing judgement for all those who came before him. Yitro, his father-in-law, advises him to create a judicial system that will spread the work load and empower others. An effective organizational system requires a team of people to share the responsibilities. A highly capable leader needs others to play integral roles to make all the pieces fit together.

I am fortunate to have so many supportive people working for the good of our children and families.

Thank you to Barbara Sherman for her skillful B'nai Mitzvah coordination; to Kim Lefferts for pitching in and for cooking for our 7th graders; and especially to Susan Becker for being the behind-the-scenes (actually, in front!) liaison between our school, our parents, and our staff. She is a truly valued partner. Making certain the day-to-day operations of Temple run smoothly is thankfully in the good hands of Wendy Gottsegen. Jamale Davis and his team makes the last second room setup changes “on the fly” with precision and great care. Jennie Rubin’s stewardship of the Pre-School makes our young families and children’s entry into Jewish life cheerful and meaningful.

Todah certainly goes to Rabbi Miller whose new vision sets a climate for our students that beautifully balances our heritage with our place in the modern world. Her dedication and spirit is loved by all—especially me. Cantor Galit has made certain our B’nai Mitzvah students, choir, and Religious School children are always comfortable and confident with our services, prayers, and songs. Her love for Judaism, Israel, and Hebrew is contagious.

My deepest appreciation goes to our teachers for their dedication, perfectionism, and understanding of the importance of their role in inspiring happy and knowledgeable young Jews. They do the holy work for all of us – parents, children and staff.

David Iskovitz, Director of Education

From the Youth Group...

The Temple B’nai Or Senior Youth Group (BOOTY) has been very busy with exciting events and activities in the past few months. We had our creative Shabbat service on January 29. Special thanks to Cantor and Rabbi for helping us create a great evening.

From the Pre-School...

I recently read a quote that said, "People who feel appreciated do more than expected." It made me think about all of the people who are responsible for making our school wonderful. I truly hope that they feel appreciated, because we could not function without their dedication and support.

There would be no pre-school without our wonderful families. Thank you to the families that have chosen to send their children to our pre-school. Your dedication to our community, your continued referrals, the countless hours we have spent schmoozing before and after pickup... I cherish these moments, as I cherish your children. Thank you for everything that you do.

Huge thanks to our Pre-School staff. I have the greatest admiration for Mandy Annicchiarico, Karen Balsamo, Diane Fiore, Kerrin Graul, Miriam Herbert, JoJo Jacobs, Liz Karr, Mindy Klein, Susan Rosenberg, Leslie Sommers, Elisa Stevens, and Jodi Weingold. Our school would not be considered a model Jewish pre-school across this country without them. I thank them from the bottom of my heart for the privilege of being their co-worker.

Thank you to my colleagues who work in the Temple office. Susan Becker, Kim Lefferts, and Barbara Sherman greet all who enter our temple with warmth and courtesy. Their contribution is immeasurable, and we are truly fortunate to be greeted by their smiles every day.

Thank you to Rabbi Miller, Cantor Galit, David Iskovitz, Wendy Gottsegen, Jamale Davis, and Maria Franjeskos for all they do to ensure school runs smoothly.

And thank you to Keith Barbarosh, and the board of trustees, for valuing that the success of our pre-school is measured by each family's connection to Judaism, the ability for parents to have a secure, and exemplary school to bring their children to, and that this enriches our community in immeasurable ways. Thank you for allowing me the honor of directing a program that reflects the very best pre-school has to offer.
