One of the greatest mitzvot is to enable others to perform mitzvot, those sacred acts which propel us to godly living and the world towards godly ends. Those who make God's home a "house for all people," birth blessings beyond count and are themselves seven-fold blessed.

From Rabbi Rossoff....

A Rabbi tells of a visit he paid to an elderly member of the congregation who had come to live with her son and his family. Their house was simply stunning! It was clear that a great deal of thought and substance had gone into decorating it inside and out. The woman greeted the Rabbi with warmth and was anxious to show him her room. Walking through the house, the Rabbi noted the tasteful furniture and impressive works of art. Entering her room, however, the Rabbi was a bit surprised at how sparsely it had been furnished: a bed, a dresser with pictures of her late husband, children and grandchildren, a picture of flowers on the wall, and in the corner, a table cluttered with small boxes. As the Rabbi looked closer, he saw that the boxes were pushkes, tzedakah boxes of various colors and sizes. This one was marked "JNF;" that one said "Synagogue;" another was for "UJA," while another bore the words "Soup Kitchen." There must have been a dozen pushkes neatly arranged on the table, each one a receptacle for donations to causes close her heart. As the Rabbi looked at all the tzedakah boxes, the woman pointed to them and proudly said, "How's THAT for interior decorating?"

Clearly, the woman knew the beauty of giving. She felt the inspiration and fulfilment that comes from giving to institutions which convert her donations into sacred work. She knew that the mitzvah of tzedakah (righteous giving) is one of the pillars of our faith, and the foundation upon which Jewish communal life – especially synagogue life - is based.

We at Temple B'nai Or know that, too. I am – we all are - so very grateful to those who have decorated our Temple with their willingness to go "above and beyond" to support our holy work. Each of us for whom TBO is an important part of our lives benefits from their large-hearted commitment to continuing Jewish life through Temple B'nai Or. To them we say rav todot (many thanks) and extend our heart-felt appreciation!

Rav todot as well to all the wonderful Temple staff members with whom I have been blessed to work. And as we celebrate the special anniversaries of Temple Educator David Iskovitz and Pre-School Director Jennie Rubin, I reflect on their decades of devotion, dedication, creativity, passion, compassion, and friendship with an abiding sense of gratitude and love. We are all blessed in so many ways!

With thanks to all,

From the President...

Kehilah is a sacred community. Our community is the people of our congregation. The sacred is the act of making things godly, filled with blessings and thanks. I have much to be thankful for.

Todah Rabbah to:

- ◆ My wife and daughters, for supporting me to serve as your president;
- ◆ Each member of our Congregation, for your participation and support in all necessary ways to make our community strong;
- ◆ Our Clergy: Rabbi Rossoff for your counsel and support during the many moments we have shared over the past 25 years, and in this special year; Cantor Dadoun-Cohen for your leadership in song and deed;
- ◆ Each and every member of the Board of Trustees, who lead with drive and steady determination through this important period of change and growth;
- ◆ Each and every member of the Rabbinic Transition Task Force, with whom I shared and learned much while completing this sacred selection responsibility;
- ◆ Our Executive Director, Wendy Gottsegen, for your dedicated stewardship of the office, our Kehilah program, events and initiatives;
- ◆ David Iskovitz and Jennie Rubin, who continue to masterfully lead our Religious School and PreSchool programs;
- ◆ Our Office Staff of Susan, Barbara, and Kim, who are the engine that makes things go at Temple;
- ◆ Jamale, Pablo, John, Derek, and Jonathan, for all their hard work and professionalism they bring to keep our temple running, neat and clean.

Why I Volunteer...

David Fields is approaching “super volunteer” status at Temple B’nai Or. He is the co-chair of the Marketing Committee, served on the Dues Restructuring Committee, served on the Rabbi Transition Task Force, plays on the Softball Team, and supports his wife, Jessica Temlock-Fields, in her capacity on the board of trustees and a teacher in our Religious School. David always raises his hand to help, so we thought we’d ask him:

Q. Why do you Volunteer at Temple?

A. I volunteer because TBO feels like my second home. I want to do all I can to expand our family and help us reach our full potential. We have so many members with great experience and backgrounds and I want to put my expertise to good use. It's a great way to connect our daily life to the traditions of our Temple.

Q. What advice would you tell others that are interested in getting more involved?

A. The more you get involved with TBO the more you feel a connection and vested interest in seeing our Temple reach its goals. You get to work with great people and never feel like you're doing something alone. Everyone understands that you have other time constraints, and there's never any pressure to do more than your time allows.

David Fields, Volunteer

In Gratitude for 20 Years of Service at Temple B'nai Or

I have known David ever since I began my Jewish learning at Temple B'nai Or, around 13 years ago. My memories from those times, while limited, fall in line comfortably with the friend and mentor I have grown to know along my personal journey, Jewishly and individually. I remember it being refreshing to have a "Principal" that was a whole lot cooler than what I was accustomed to at public school in Randolph. The Simpsons became synonymous with Monday nights at Hebrew School, Jewish rappers came in from Brooklyn to perform on the B'nai Or Bima, and the list goes on.

Creating a Jewish curriculum for impossible-to-please teens is no easy task, and I am very grateful for all that David has done to tackle it. Being Jewish in the 21st Century in America means many different things. My memories from the latter years in my post-Bar Mitzvah days attest to the dozens of diverse activities that were meant to showcase Reform Judaism's constant adaptation.

Coming to Temple became an opportunity for Jewish kids from all different social circles to come together and escape whatever was stressing or bothering them in their respective hometowns. My peers and I internalized the importance of community, and these ideals have continued to drive us forward on our journeys. Thank you David for your commitment and passion, it has not gone unnoticed!

A Decade of Loving Service to Early Childhood Education

10 Years of Love and Learning

During Mrs. Rubin's 10 years as Pre-School Director, we have spent 13 amazing, overlapping school years with her. Our parents tell us that our time in Pre-School gave us a big head start for kindergarten and our Jewish education. But what we remember are the hugs, the laughs, the new things we learned, the songs we sang, and the great friendships we made. Because of Mrs. Rubin we were excited for school every day. She welcomed us whether we were smiling, singing, crying, or anything in between. She dried our tears, held our hands, and always listened to our stories about everything from vacations and holidays to a really exciting game on the playground. On Fridays, Mrs. Rubin taught us about Shabbat. She emphasized the importance of being thankful, taking care of each other, and taking care of the world. But it really was the little things – the extra hug, the moments of undivided attention, the words of encouragement – that made our years in Pre-School truly unforgettable. Mrs. Rubin and her teachers will always be a part of our warmest memories. All of our friends, and the hundreds of other students whose lives she changed, are better for having been her students. Mommy told us that Mrs. Rubin also helped her and Daddy with so many parenting questions, milestones, and challenges. We never knew how much they learned from Mrs. Rubin or how many times Mommy went to her for hugs and advice. Mrs. Rubin's kindness and caring have made the Pre-School a magical place for the last decade. Thank you, Mrs. Rubin, for everything you have done for our family, the Pre-School and Temple B'nai Or.

Love,
Gabriel, Natalie, Oliver, and Julianne Rosenthal

P.S. Our mommy told us to tell you that Registration for the 15/16 School Year is now open, so if you know anybody interested in the BEST PRESCHOOL EVER, have them call Mrs. Rubin.

Renaissance News

The Renaissance Group, like the Temple itself, is powered by its members. Therefore, in this Todah Rabbah ("thanks a lot") issue of the Or-acle, it is most appropriate that we offer special thanks to those who have 'gone above and beyond' for so many years. Ted Largman had the vision, and with the dedicated efforts of Charlotte Abberman, Mitzi Szerlip, Anita and Jack Swotinsky, Bev Raffman, Fran Milberg, and Stuart and Barbara Rayvid, the group is vibrant and strong as it enters its second quarter century.

Upcoming Spring Events Include:

- Sunday, March 15 – 10 AM breakfast and a program on The Art of Chocolate, complete with samples!
- Wednesday, April 15 – noon luncheon and a discussion, led by Rabbi Rossoff, on the thoughtful question: "Does one have to believe in God to be Jewish?"
- Wednesday, May 20 – noon luncheon and a program presented by Franzine Pozner-Ehrenberg, a Supervising Assistant Prosecutor with the Morris County Prosecutor's Office will discuss identity theft, including advice regarding scams and frauds.
- Wednesday, June 17 – noon luncheon and a special musical program presented by our very own Temple and Renaissance members, Anita and Lou Gordon.

All programs are open to the Temple community and guests, and require reservations and a small fee. Breakfast is $8.00 for Renaissance members, $12.00 for all others. Luncheon is $13.00 for Renaissance members and $18.00 for all others. Contact Mitzi Szerlip, 215 Forest Glen Road, Pompton Plains, NJ 07444, 973-839-1939
