From the Rabbi....

Many people have been kind to Nancy and me since we made our way from Stony Brook, Long Island, to New Jersey. For this we are both grateful. First impressions of our new home? Morristown is a wonderful place - steeped in history, picturesque, bustling with life on Saturday nights in the summer, and I expect even more beautiful when the leaves turn in the fall. There is a peaceful contentment. Families stroll through parks, basking beneath the sun, enjoying the breeze. The town green pulls the community together and centers the people.

But at the beginning of this new year let us contrast this tranquility with the morning paper and the evening news. International conflicts and domestic turmoil are rife. The country is divided along political lines, and each side is becoming more entrenched. The rhetoric has become hateful; the country appears to be at war with itself. What is to be done?

The message of the High Holidays is the message for our times. First, we are called upon to be grateful for the blessings that God has bestowed on us. We have been blessed with food and shelter to sustain us and much, much more. Flowers delight us, the sun continues to shine, every breath we take is a gift. Our existence on this earth is not an award and certainly not a right; it is a divine favor.

On the other hand, Jews are not allowed to be at peace until the world is at peace. The sound of the shofar is a call to action. We must work to change the world. So at the same time we are to be satisfied, we must also be dissatisfied, acknowledging the conflict and division that prevail.

On Rosh Hashanah we will stand at attention when the blasts of the shofar are sounded. They are directed to all of us as a community, but we are to listen as individuals. Each one of us must ask, How far have I come? Did I do my best to create a better world? Did I live up to the best within me?

This is the tension of the Jew whose heart is alive...to be satisfied and dissatisfied simultaneously, to hear God's voice in community and also personally. Let us respond as Abraham did: "Hineni" - I am here to serve a higher purpose; I am here to repair the world.

As the new year approaches, let us pray for peace between the peoples of the world and also within our nation, within our cities and in our neighborhoods. Let us pray for peace within our homes and within our families - between parents and children, between husbands and wives, between brothers and sisters.

And of course, let us pray for peace and joy within our Temple.

I look forward to greeting you during this holiday season. I wish each one of you health, happiness, and renewed spirit.

From the Cantor...

It has become my personal newish tradition to associate the High Holiday bulletin with the mournful holiday of 9 B'Av, commemorating Jewish exile and destruction of the Temple in Jerusalem - perhaps for writing deadlines, but also for the journey through our calendar. We move from mourning, and journey towards healing. Elul, the last month in the Hebrew calendar, prescribes that we reflect and gradually leads into themes of the Holidays - forgiveness and repentance. This is the process of Cheshbon Hanefesh (the accounting of our soul).

In recent years, Reform Judaism renews its relationship with these ideas in a more philosophical and symbolic way. It is our present climate that challenges us to do so. We feel increasingly insecure and unsafe. We experience intensity and even harshness in relationships between people. Fundamentalist philosophies are on the rise worldwide, and we feel more anxiety for the future of our loved ones and perhaps civilization.

Unfortunately, this article won't resolve our modern-day issues and secure the future of humanity. Nor does it address the challenges facing our precious planet influenced by the imprint of humans. However, as Pirkei Avot (The Ethics of our Ancestors) teaches us, if we are to thirst for knowledge, we must continue to ask questions, fundamental profound ones as well as small ones.

The verse דע לפני מי אתה עומד says: "Know before whom you stand." It is a magnanimous statement to denote one standing before her maker, but it may be an invitation to look inward. If we can step outside of ourselves and look at ourselves that way, how would we see ourselves then through the lens of Teshuvah - Repentance? Observing ourselves in that light can be humbling. To use mindfulness terminology: Being truly present in our truest skin and all that is within.

In this season, I ask: Who am I in this very moment? Being able to sit with this question without all the right answers is a teaching moment all on its own. Sometimes in these moments, divinity sparks within us and in relations with one another.

May this year be a year of thoughtful reflection and deep questioning for all of us.

Shana Tova.

Cantor Galit Dadoun Cohen

From the President...

The High Holidays are "early" this year. We can't win. They're either "early" or they're "late." While it's a tremendous scramble to celebrate the High Holidays as the summer is just ending, it does get us right in to the swing of things at TBO.

I hope that many of you have had a chance to meet Rabbi Katz this summer. I am delighted to see how many people came to services, came to the Pre-negs set up to meet him, and have made personal appointments to get to know him. There's still time to come out and meet both Rabbi Katz and his lovely wife Nancy. Rabbi Katz has "hit the ground running" and has already provided many interesting ideas regarding programming and worship.

Committees have been hard at work planning meaningful and fun activities to fill the calendar all year long. Find something that interests you: adult learning, social action, cooking, meeting new people — and get involved! There are wonderful people at Temple B'nai Or — get to know them. If you have been away from Temple for a while, you'll be surprised at how rewarding it will feel to do something good and reconnect with your community.

I want to thank Barbara Rayvid for her work over the summer as High Holiday Chair, helping the clergy and staff get ready for the holidays and helping to prepare the volunteers and honorees for the services. It's a behind-the-scenes job that requires serious coordination and commitment.

As always, the financial stability of our Temple is of paramount importance. It enables us to continue to operate and fulfill our mission to enrich the Jewish community in the greater Morristown area, where everyone feels welcome to worship, learn, and celebrate in their own way while connecting tradition to contemporary life. If you have not yet returned your Kehilah pledge form, please do so right now and remember that your meaningful contributions to TBO are what sustains this community.

Michele Murray, President

From the Pre-School...

The Talmud teaches us (in Parashat Chayei Sarah), “Kindness is the highest form of wisdom.” As we begin another school year and welcome new families into our Pre-School family, our school embodies what the Talmud teaches. We use this message as a guiding principle within our classrooms and in the hallways. The kindness mindset brings people together with mutual respect and empathy. We value the wisdom we gain from working together; and starting out a new year, or a new endeavor, with kindness provides the best landscape for successful outcomes.

We are so privileged to welcome back our incredible staff: Karen Balsamo, Mandy Cooper, Diane Fiore, Miriam Herbert, JoJo Jacobs, Liz Karr, Mindy Klein, Susan Rosenberg, Laila Sebiri, and Jodi Weingold. We have such an exceptional team, and we are truly looking forward to a great year!

We had another fabulous summer at Camp Brody of B’nai Or. The children thoroughly enjoyed our themed weeks, and the added fun of Wild and Wonderful Wednesdays. Joyfully led by our Camp Director, Jodi Weingold, and our Assistant Director, Hallie Rubin, our counselors, Mandy Cooper, Diane Fiore, Kathleen Graul, Michael Nalbach, Jenna Sandler, and Miranda Siegel, in addition to our Teen Leaders, Liza Gutentag, Alex Jacobs, and Jared Pine, provided a fun, safe, and educational experience for all of our campers. We all had a blast!

Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur provide ample opportunities for families to teach their children about joy, reflection, tzedakah, and mitzvot. We do not advise that Pre-Schoolers fast on Yom Kippur, but having them spend the day without a favorite item or food is an introduction to the rituals of the holiday. Little lessons provide the foundation for great learning.

If you would like any additional information about our programs, please feel free to contact me at any time.

L’shana tovah! Wishing you all a healthy and a happy New Year.

With warmest regards,

Jennie Rubin, Director of Early Childhood Education

From the Religious School...

Today’s world is increasingly complex and requires rapid changes to the challenges and demands of any educational system. Compounding this is when we try to integrate Jewish education with the larger academic skill set children are constantly acquiring.

We feel the changes our Religious School is implementing for the upcoming year offer students better potential for success and align best with the reality of our families’ lifestyles.

Students have an option of small group intensive and personalized learning or private Skype Hebrew sessions. Every student benefits from this improved quality of instruction.

Sunday morning and Monday evening classes have added fifteen minutes to each session. The additional time helps balance out some of the activities that were scheduled on the second day (Thursdays) last year. Now special programs, presenters, hands-on experiences, etc., will be open to all instead of limited to what was our Thursday population.

We are introducing Melton Jewish Family Living through our Mishpacha Lomedet Sunday sessions to provide parents with ways to bring Jewish living into the home.

Clearly, no simple, single approach will bring about all the answers we are seeking. By involving families in the learning process, we hope to create a “best practices” for the intricate interdependencies we hope to build and strengthen.

We believe the new school year, with the changes we’ve made, will provide wonderful learning outcomes for our students and their families. Judaism matters — and we work passionately to insure that our enduring traditions are passed on the next generation

David Iskovitz, Director of Education

From the Youth Group...

I am so excited to announce our 2018-2019 BOOTY Board:

Renaissance News

THIS NEW YEAR MARKS AN EXCITING MOMENT FOR THE RENAISSANCE GROUP AT TBO –
THE START OF OUR 30TH YEAR!

- SUNDAY, SEPTEMBER 16 - 1:00 PM - BRUNCH/LUNCH

We welcome Joel Farkas who will be speaking about Painting the American Revolution: Through the Eyes of the Artists. This lecture will look at the American Revolution through the eyes of the artists who chronicled the founding of our country. Remembering that artists are not only painters, and works of art are not only paintings, we will also explore other art forms such as poetry (Paul Revere's Ride) and even music (Yankee Doodle).

- SUNDAY, OCTOBER 21 - 12:30 PM - LUNCH/BRUNCH

Ashley Koning, the Director of The Eagleton Center for Public Interest Polling at Rutgers University, will be our featured speaker. She joined us a year ago with a very interesting presentation on the NJ Gubernatorial Election. This year she will speak on the upcoming midterm elections for the US Senate and House of Representatives. The outcome of this election may result in one or both legislative chambers switching from Republican to Democrat party control.

- SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 18 - 12:30 PM - BRUNCH/LUNCH

Our very own TBO Executive Director, Joel Katz, will speak to us about his other passion in life - being regional director of March of the Living. For many years Joel has led groups of Jewish teens and adults to Poland and Israel. The purpose of the trips is to teach current generations to remember the past so they can teach the next generation. After visiting "the past," the group travels to Israel to see "today" and into the future.

All events are open to the entire Temple community, as well as to guests.

Fee: $15 for Renaissance members, $20 for guests

For reservations, contact Mitzi Szerlip, 215 Forest Glen, Pompton Plains, NJ 07444 973-839-1939

Questions, please call Stuart Rayvid (973-515-3518) or Carol Marin (973-366-9316)

You are invited to Sisterhood's Annual Paid-up Dinner
Sunday, October 21, 5:00 pm
"Let's Explore Emotional Intelligence"

Enjoy dinner and great conversation with fellow TBO women. Welcome Robin Stern, Ph.D., the associate director for the Yale Center for Emotional Intelligence. Robin is a licensed psychoanalyst, educator, and author, with over twenty-five years of experience treating individuals, couples, and groups.

This event is free to all Sisterhood members who have paid their annual dues of $36. RSVP to sisterhoodtemplebnaior@gmail.com by October 7. Please contact us for more information, and to volunteer to assist with set up, clean up or bring appetizers and desserts to share.

The Sisterhood of Temple B'nai Or is looking forward to a great 2018-2019!

Once again, we will have monthly informal "Kibbitz" events, creating an opportunity for TBO women to engage with one another and form new relationships. These events take place at women's homes, or at a local spot in town, in order to keep an intimate atmosphere.

In the spring is our beloved Women's Seder - attended by over 100 women of all ages! We have a fantastic seder dinner complete with singing and dancing, leaving everyone in the room breathless and inspired!

As always, remember to visit our TBO Judaica shop for a multitude of beautiful items for all of your holiday and mitzvah needs.

We look forward to seeing you this year!

Hallie Beyer, Abby Wellington, Jamie Frick, and Maggie Goldberg
TBO Sisterhood Executive Board

From the Judaica Shop...

Apples and Pumpkins. The fall comes in fast, with school and activities and, if you blink, we're into October! That's why I want to discuss Chanukah. This year, Chanukah comes very early in the American calendar (Dec. 3rd). Before you know it, you're buying for "the holidays." I would argue that Chanukah is not "the holidays" - it's OUR holiday, our celebration of victory. We have 8 nights and I propose that at least one of those nights, should be dedicated to something Jewish besides spinning a dreidel or eating latkes. Make one of the gifts you give this year, a Jewish gift - a mezuzah for a bedroom doorway, a star or hamsa piece of jewelry, a funny mug - something that reminds you that Chanukah is unique in our community and that as Jews we don't need to join in the mad green-and-red rush. Visit the Gift Shop (open during religious school) and see what's new.
